NIFTY CHART

On the daily scale the index has maintained its sequence of higher bottoms since it established its short term swing support around 10000. Last two days it has also managed to close above the short term averages of 5 & 20 EMA's while the averages are on the verge of convergence. The setup looks promising for another leg of momentum with the immediate expected move towards 10700-10705 where its 200 DEMA is placed. Traders should retain their longs and add if any dip till 10450 is witnessed for an immediate upmove towards 10705 (200 DEMA) -10750 (Gap resistance) levels with stops placed below 10200.
