NIFTY CHART

Despite the occurrence of a bearish candle in the previous session, its bearish implications will only kick in if index trades below its 50 DEMA placed at 10815 levels. Weekly RSI continues to mark higher highs indicates prevalent bullish strength. On midcap front; market breadth of NSE 200 stocks indicates there are only 63 stocks currently trading above 50 relative strength suggesting room for improvement in market breadth in coming sessions. The index continues to find support at lower levels with strong bullish reversal candle formations reaffirms underlying bullish strength to prevail. Short term traders should reinstate longs once the index is above 11020 levels while continue holding positional longs with a closing stop placed below 10815 levels (50 DEMA) .
